Instruction...

For your better understanding...

The finest plans and the finest accounting and computer systems are only as effective as they are correctly implemented. Of course, we provide accounting and software instruction and, for your assurance, if needed, software support is always available directly from BIS® Software technicians.

Either way, we encourage instruction for your better understanding of how the accounting process functions within the accounting program for your greater appreciation of how programs and procedures, when properly implemented, make your business run smoothly, orderly, and with confidence of business growth and profitability.

Installation...

For your continued comfort...

There is one exact way to install systems correctly and we make certain that plans and procedures and programs are installed as designed for your greatest benefit.

This is just one more opportunity for us to make certain that the instruction process is continuing for your greater comfort of knowing that you are starting off correctly with regard to all aspects of your preparation including the installation process.

This is an integral part of our consultative and support services. This gives you the ability to properly implement our plan fully for effective administration of your business and operations.

Bookkeeping...

For your time management...

There are circumstances when it can be useful for us to do your bookkeeping or manage your accounting. However, this should in no way diminish the importance of implementing the best accounting programs and procedures.

Our bookkeeping and accounting service is only intended to maintain your accounting on your systems on site so that, as you grow, we can, cooperatively and easily transition full charge to you and/or those who are prepared to assume responsibility of maintaining your accounting records on site. There are significant advantages to maintaining all accounting records on site, therefore, we always recommend on site record keeping for immediate on site access and control.
